HOW TO PLAY

Every row, every column and every block holds each number once. A meadow with nine rows has nine columns and nine blocks of three by three; a six by six meadow has blocks of two rows by three columns.

Hares leap like a knight. Two burrows a knight's leap apart, two one way and one across, never hold the same number. The leap reaches over rows, columns and blocks alike.

In the harder meadows hares also refuse to sit next to the same number in any direction, corners included. Each puzzle says above it which rules are in force.

Exactly one solution, found by the program that made this puzzle.
